EAST CANYON STATE PARK

EAST CANYON

East Canyon State Park is a hidden treasure in Morgan County. Nestled among rolling hills and aspen trees, East Canyon is a perfect destination located close to the Wasatch Front.

History of East Canyon

East Canyon State Park protects an amazing piece of Utah history, a section of the original Mormon Pioneer Trail. Created by the Donner/Reed party on their way to California in 1846, the trail runs from Henefer, Utah through the park, into Mormon Flats and up Big Mountain. In 1847, Brigham Young followed the same trail with the first company of Mormon pioneer settlers to the Salt Lake Valley.

In 1896 the first dam at East Canyon was constructed, with two more dams built over the next 50 years. The current dam holds 52,000 acre-feet of water used for irrigation. East Canyon State Park was established in 1967.

Things to Do

Visitors enjoy a variety of sports on the 684-acre East Canyon Reservoir. Recreational boating, swimming, and fishing for trout, smallmouth bass, crappie and crawfish are only a few possibilities. Day-use shelters for picnicking are located at both the north and south ends of the lake. Winter activities include camping and ice fishing.

East Canyon State Park also manages Mormon Flats. This area offers a four-mile trail perfect for hiking, biking and wildlife viewing or snowshoeing and cross-country skiing during winter. View remnants of Fort Wells, a stronghold built by the Mormons to protect themselves against Johnston's Army in 1857.

Plants and Animals

At an elevation of 5,700 feet, East Canyon State Park is part of the Upper Sonoran Life Zone. Vegetation surrounding the reservoir consists of sage grass, shrubs, willow, red clover, garrison meadow foxtail and canary grass.

Mountain slopes are covered predominantly with sagebrush, juniper and scrub oak. This is intermixed with blue bunch wheat grass, basin wild rye, rabbit brush and mountain snowberry.

The park provides a home for a variety of wildlife. Mule deer are the most common, but elk and moose also frequent the area. Bobcats, coyotes, red fox, badgers, porcupines, rabbits and beavers are also sighted frequently. Many species of birds are routinely spotted and include: great horned owls, grebes, mud swallows, bald and golden eagles, osprey, sage grouse, chukars and loons.

Camping

Camping is offered in the popular Dixie Creek Campground. Located on the north end of the reservoir, the campground offers 33 sites with either full or partial hookups and modern restrooms with showers. On the south end, primitive Big Rock Campground has 21 sheltered sites and is a favorite location for those seeking a more rustic experience.

Larger groups can enjoy the park's three primitive group sites at River's Edge, located on the south end of the lake, and Large Spring and Mormon Flats located four miles south of the reservoir. Group sites accommodate 50 to 75 people and are available by reservation only.

Yurts

For those who enjoy camping, but don't have a tent or RV, East Canyon features four yurts. These large circular tents are made of vinyl-lined canvas sitting atop a wooden floor and deck. All yurts have electricity, heat and are fully furnished to sleep up to six people. Firepits are not included. Children under sixteen must be supervised by an adult. Yurts are available year-round, by reservation only, and a two-night minimum stay is required.

Facilities

Park facilities include 21 picnic areas, two campgrounds, three group campgrounds, two group day-use pavilions and 40 dry storage units. Modern restrooms are available on the north end of the park during the summer season. Showers are available to campers staying in Dixie Creek Campground. Water is turned off for winter from approximately October 15 to April 15.
